SATISFACTION OVER GOOD RESULTS--ALL CLASSES
THAT ACT MAY BE MADE PERMANENT--NEVER MUCH NEED OF ALERTNESS AS NOW

Chief Police Williams, of London, Ont., says: "Drunkenness has decreased seventy-five per cent. since Prohibition came into force. Cases of crime have decreased in the same basis of four or five per week before the Act, but now the rate has gone down to about one a month. It is regarded all round as a great blessing to the province." The fact that there are fewer drunkards is, in the opinion, As the operation of the Act proceeds men are learning its wisdom, and seeing its benefits as the days go by. We have an element of the population that are not only entirely bondage themselves to this habit, but we have also ways and means of dealing with them."

FAREWELL MEETINGS

Fine Band of Local Officers Commissioned—Officers' Wedding—Citadel Renovated

During the three weeks Adjutant Hargrove was away on his furlough, the meetings at Halifax I. were conducted by Mrs. Hargrove. Her ability as a leader was established beyond a doubt. Crowds and finances were excellent, and fourteen souls were registered at the Mercy Seal.

On July 25th we held our Commissioning of Locals. About thirty commissions were handed out, and if your correspondent is any judge, then that splendid crowd of men and women, many of them young, who filled the platform and reached their orders at the hands of Major Crichton, will certainly give a good account of themselves in days to come.

On Sunday night Mr. Kenneth A. Baird, of Dalhousie University, read the lesson and took for his subject "The Need of the Hour." In his own original manner he presented before that splendid audience their individual responsibility, both to God and their fellow-men. In the prayer meeting four souls took their cross to follow Jesus.

On Aug. 15th Major Crichton conducted the wedding of Captains Friesen and Mont. The Citadel was crowded for the event, and the whole affair passed off very pleasantly.

The meetings, Sunday, Aug. 11th, were conducted by Mrs. Hargrove, and resulted in six souls being won for the Master. Her address at night was full of interest and power and lacked nothing in eloquence. Those burning truths delivered with such feeling and tenderness must have aroused the most indifferent.

On Sunday, Aug. 18th, took the form of a welcome home to Adjutants Hargrove and Hurd from the Corps of Newfoundland. The meetings simply overflowed with interest and nothing was lacking to make them back what we were given to them feel with us again. Six souls came forward in the prayer meeting, and we finished up at 8 p.m., praising God with the timbrel and dancing. Finances for the week-end amounted to ninety-five dollars.

Our Citadel has been thoroughly renovated at a cost of nearly three thousand dollars, and presents a most pleasing appearance. The auditorium is now filled with folding chairs, which add much to the comfort as well as to the appearance of the building. A new heating plant has also been installed, and now a gallery to accommodate the ever-increasing crowds, is under consideration.

Harvest Festival looms up in the distance, and if the writer knows anything of the spirit of the Soldiers of the Top, will see their battle cry in this drive.

SOMERSET (BERMUDA)

We have said good-bye to Captain Friesen who has worked faithfully at Somerset for two years. He made many friends during his stay, and his greatly missed. We wish him every success.—Y. P. S.-M. Gibbons.

MORRISBURG

On Sunday evening, Aug. 25th, Major Arnold (S. P. York) paid us a visit, and his singing was much enjoyed. Our Officer is Captain E. Graves, who has come back into our midst for the second time.

Conducting Meetings at the Saskatoon Corps

We have been favoured at Saskatoon with several visitors, of whom First Ensign Jones, an old Soldier of the Corps, came for a few days.

Life-Saving Guards of St. John Division at Camp Keep-Sweet, near Brighton, N. S.

furlough. On Sunday night he led the meeting, which resulted in three souls getting saved. After him came Ensign Burdett, who, with Captain Pearson, led the meetings for the week-end. The Ensign was as fiery as ever, full of zeal and enthusiasm, and the meetings went with a swing.

The following week-end, Commandant Larsen conducted the meetings. His visit was indeed welcome. Commandant Hoddinott returned from his furlough looking very brown.

On Sunday last Treasurer McNeill forewelled. He has been a Soldier here for eleven years, and is leaving for Edmonton. Secretaries Clark and Young People's Sergeant-Major Horne, on behalf of the Band and Young People's Corps, had a few words to say at the meeting, and Mrs. McNeill will be missed by the Band and Corps.—C. C.

MAJOR MOORE

Visits Moncton and Speaks in Two Meetings—Two Seekers

On Sunday, Sept. 1st, we had Major Moore and Adjutant Hurd with us at Moncton for the forenoon and evening services. There was a splendid spirit in the meetings all day, and although it was pouring rain, good crowds were present. In the afternoon the Major spoke from the life of Daniel.

In the evening the Major spoke very forcefully on the wages of sin. At the close of the service one woman knelt at the Pentent Form and gave her heart to God. A backslider, who had been a member of the church, received the blessings received through the life of the Major and Adjutant Hurd. The Adjutant took charge of the Halldahl wind-up.—E. T.

NEW OFFICERS

Are Welcomed at Chatham (Ont.)

The Chatham (Ont.) Corps most enthusiastically welcomed the adjutant by Adjutant Jordan on Sunday night of his and his wife's appointment as the Corps' Commanding Officers. The Adjutant and his wife have been in Chatham on a long furlough and are right in his home town the Adjutant has been a most energetic worker, both at the open-air and inside meetings.

Although but few of his old Soldier-comrades and friends are left, the Adjutant has been the esteem and admiration of those to whom he was a stranger. We are believing for a revival of old-time Salvationism in the city under his leadership. The Holy Spirit, the soldiers with a friend in Mrs. Jordan—Songster.

Work in Progress Under the Leadership of Adjutant and Mrs. Rowell

Adjutant and Mrs. Rowell have been cordially welcomed to Brandon. In the Sunday morning meeting.

ing the Adjutant spoke on "Christian Perfection" and pointed out the desirability of cultivating character on the part of each individual for his or her own personal salvation, the enlargement of the influence on the life of the community.

Last Sunday night two young women came forward and took Christ as their Saviour. The previous Sunday we had the joy of seeing six souls out for forgiveness of sin.

FREE FROM JAIL

Ex-Prisoner Seeks Freedom from Sin—Progress at Port Arthur

Our new Officers have arrived at Port Arthur, and we have had some real good meetings. Souls are being saved. One fan in particular, whom Lieutenant Majury has been visiting at the local jail, as soon as he got out, made for the Army Hall and came to the Mercy Seal.

We are starting brigades and looking forward for a soul-saving campaign. Our Officers are Captains Harris and Lieutenant Richards. We have splendid services through the week. Our Junior and Senior picnic was a great success. We are having our Quarters and Hall renovated, including new cocoa matting, furnace, and furniture.

CHANGES AT RIDGETOWN

Captain Kyrlyson has been compelled to leave us owing to throat trouble. We earnestly pray that God will soon restore him to the battlefield. Lieutenant T. Light, who has been holding on in his place for the past month, farewelled from Ridgetown on Sunday, Sept. 1st, with a great occasion of much regret on the part of the comrades, as the Lieutenant has faithfully dealt out the Gospel truths. Four souls have given their hearts to God during his brief stay. The blessing of God has been much felt in these meetings.

We also said good-bye, on Sunday night, to Candidate Myrtle Talbot. We shall also miss her, as she has been a faithful worker as a Company Guard. Captain Martin is our incoming Officer. May God bless his stay among us in the Salvation of many souls.—Y. P. S.-M. Mrs. Horne.

VISIT TO OUTPOST

On the invitation of Candidate George Pughman, we lived out in the country at Stanley, the Port William (Ont.) Band Officers, and their wives, paid a visit. The Candidate has organized a Company Meeting, and the children gave a pleasing programme. Captain Fletcher and his wife were with us. The Army is well liked at Stanley.

Life-Saving Guards at Camp Keep-Sweet, near Brighton, N. S.

Captain B. Lang, the Life-Saving Guards Officer, conducted the Friday night meeting at the Open-air Meetings around the camp, with their drums and bugles. The service, though held in a large crowd, was very impressive and lined the street.

The exercise in the street of stave drills and marching, which caused considerable attention in all walks of life stood round and crowded the Open-air ring and gave good impression to all.

The finances were the best for some time. The Captain gave some very helpful and inspiring addresses. The history of the Corps, broken into one hour, records for a week-end meeting. Quite a few have been won for the Salvation. To God be all the praise.

MANY VISITORS

Attend Meetings at Galt—An Army Wedding

We are pleased to report good times at Galt. A few halldahls have recently returned to Galt, and are taking their stand. Bandmaster Terlin, and his wife, with their wives and families, are now on their way to the Corps. Mr. Adjutant Urskil (Hamilton), Captain Sil (West), and his wife, and Mr. Terlin, Betts, Thomas, and Farnsworth (Toronto), who have been long in the line, have attended the meetings and are still greater rest from the prayer and faith exercised in those meetings. Two souls knelt at the Mercy Seal, one for a closer walk with God, and the other for pardon. Ensign Hoffman, who was furloughing, also came along and helped with his singing and testimony.

Terlin is a splendid "Army town." Among our Soldiers are to be found old-time Salvationists of the kind of the old-time and are helping for a spiritual upheaval and God-glorifying revival which so many communities stand in need of today.—A. G. Greville.

CANDIDATES FAREWELL

On Sunday, Sept. 1st, at Solihull we said good-bye to our Candidates and Anderson. Both Candidates are well known in Solihull and will be missed very much in the Corps. They were both laid to rest in enthusiastic workers. Candidate Winterston also took a prominent part in the meetings of the day and night. His service was very impressive, we had the joy of seeing three backsliders return to the fold.

VISITORS AT TILLSBURGH

On Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 1st-2nd, at Tiltsburgh, we had a great blessing to all. The week-end meetings, Aug. 18th, were led by the Band under the leadership of Bandmaster Phippen. During the week-end, the Major was on duty. On Sunday, Aug. 25th, the Holy Spirit was taken by Treasurer Winchester. At night Ensign and his wife were with us. On Aug. 26th the Soldiers held a gathering to bid farewell to Secretary Hales and his family. We shall miss them very much as it has taken them handmen from our band who are away at their post.

Captain Mark Forward and Ensign Alfred Anstey Married by Commandant Hiscock

An Army wedding took place at Great Falls, Nfld., on August 6th, when Commandant Hiscock united in matrimony Captain Mark Forward and Ensign Alfred Anstey. Captain Anstey came out of Twilligate Corps twelve years ago and has done good service as a Day School Teacher and Corps Officer. He has to her erected a faithful record of Salvation Army warfare of which she may justly feel proud. Captain Forward came out of Carleton Place Corps six years ago and has laboured as a Field Officer in different commands with good success. His present command was Springdale (a new opening), where he and his good wife will labour together for their next term. Their old comrades in wishing them a long and successful period of service, crowned with the blessing of God and the joy of seeing many souls won for the Master.

CAMPAIN AT PETROLIA Conducted by Mrs. Major Moore—Much Blessing and Two Seekers

Petrolia has just had the privilege of a forenoon's campaign conducted by Mrs. Major Moore, who was stationed here about twenty years ago. Her former forenoon service at Petrolia (Ensign Sprague) was converted, and therefore, as Mrs. Moore put it, "he here for his twelfth anniversary."

The campaign commenced with a blessing meeting on Friday night, and the next morning the men enrolled and some are in full uniform. They are mostly faithful fighters and are entering great hopes in them. At two o'clock, we had our Company Meeting at which the Commandant again addressed the children.

In the afternoon the Scandinavians were favoured by a talk in Swedish from the Commandant, and we are sure that they were delighted to hear the Gospel message in their own dear mother tongue. A red hot prayer meeting at six, Open-air at half-past and fizzle at seven completed the meetings for the day.

The attendances were good at all the meetings—Candidate Stock.

PRISONER SEEKS PARDON

We had with us at Sarnia for the week-end, Aug. 31st, Sept. 1st, Sergeant-Major Levitt, of Forest, Ont. The Sergeant-Major is a real Salvationist, and in every meeting of his power was felt, and we all were richly blessed. In the afternoon service at the jail one soul sought God, and at the evening service six made a full surrender. Last Thursday night a young man sought and found the Saviour.

Seven meetings were held including a lecture which was delivered by the hands, Songsters, Soldiers, and Life-Saving Guards, and the Colonel was supported by the Headquarters, Training, Field and Social Staffs. The first important item was the commissioning of seventeen Cadets, young men and women, as Probationary Leaders, and Teachers, and amidst great enthusiasm appointing them to different parts of the Dominion.

On Tuesday afternoon the Colonel met Army Officers in Council at the Army College and had tea with them. There was a most beautiful feeling of affectionate enthusiasm. One dear brother returned to the fold in the Salvation meeting, which was the occasion of much rejoicing, so much so that we concluded with an "Halldahl wind-up." It was indeed a week-end of spiritual uplift, and we shall remember for some time to come.

NEWFOUNDLAND CONGRESS

His Excellency the Governor
Presides at Sunday Afternoon
Meeting - Commissioner
Mapp Speaks on Russia

That the people of St. John's, Newfoundland, respect their Governor and appreciate the Salvation Army work was abundantly shown by the great concourse that greeted him and our leaders as they stepped upon the platform of the College of the Holy Spirit, Sunday afternoon, Sept. 1st. Every seat in that great hall was filled, and scores were in the aisles and every available space.

The Governor, through a great stress of circumstances, expected to be detained from being present, but succeeded in lending them assistance, to the great satisfaction and pleasure of our leaders and the audience.

At the request of His Excellency, Brigadier Morris took the chair and introduced him to the audience.

A Public Duty

His Excellency said: "I should thank The Salvation Army Officers for their kind words. It was intended that I should be out of the city at this time, but my advisers thought, with me, that it would be better to delay. We felt that the appeal was a public duty to which we should give heed, and my coming is a tribute to my confidence in The Salvation Army here and throughout the world."

"My sympathies are especially on the Social side of your Organization. This is where The Army made its first great mark in the eyes of the public. In your councils it is my hope that, as you discuss the problems of the present, you will do so unselfishly, and that you will be able to devise ways and means that will help in meeting the needs of this trying times."

The Governor then introduced Commissioner Mapp, paying tribute to his devotion and work, entering into full and complete details of the sacrifice entailed in such a task as the opening up of Salvation Army Work in such troublesome times.

The Commissioner gave us a wonderful insight into the real condition of Russia.

Duty called away His Excellency the Governor, who, upon leaving the platform, left the Colonial Secretary (W. W. Hallyday, Esq.), to take his place.

Moved Vote of Thanks

At the close of the lecture, Mr. J. C. Morris, in moving and eloquent thanks, said: "I have known the Commissioner and followed his work for years. He has given us a great insight into the real condition of that vast country." He especially thanked the Commissioner for the kind words about Newfoundland and our boys serving in the work of that vast country. He especially thanked the Commissioner's words because he was an independent witness.

Mr. W. W. Withers, who seconded the motion, said, "Ever since the Salvation Army started, it has had the sympathy of the people of Newfoundland. It is the life of Christianity. It has set the standard and pace for the world. No Organization is anywhere without the first and foremost of its practical Christian work as exemplified in the life of Commissioner Mapp. This is what we must have to follow. Listening to the Commissioner has produced the greatest interest in that vast country, Russia, and we believe it will yet rise to be a benefit to the world."

This great and profitable meeting closed with prayer by Rev. G. Dickie.

WESTERN CADETS

Are Welcomed to Winnipeg at Meeting Conducted by Colonel Turner - Training Garrison, This Area Enlarged - Third Session Starts with Thirty-five Cadets

FOR the past few weeks Canada West's Training Centre has been the scene of a most active activity, the taking over of the Balmoral Lodge adjacent to the Garrison has supplied a long-felt need for better and more extensive accommodation. The two buildings have been connected and necessary alterations made which has provided a Quarters for the College of the Holy Spirit, the blessing of God on the work of the Field Officers and their devotional services.

An appropriate Scripture was read by Major Tudge (Immigration and Trade Secretary), which was followed by expressions of welcome from a number of speakers.

"One thing which will be an inspiration to us at Winnipeg," said Mrs. Commandant Bristow, "will be the fact that here in the city thirty young women will regularly improve their lives by the work of the Field Officers and their devotional services."

Major Sims (Men's Social Secre-

taire) said: "The British Columbia speaker drew upon the fact that they felt themselves called to do for themselves for the work that they were going forward in this strength."

A vocal solo and ode by Cadet Parry (Religion) and Cadet Condon (Religion) and Sister Suter (Religion) added variety to the programme of the meeting, as did the selections of the Citadel Band and the Choir.

The United Cadets sang very enthusiastically "Stand up for Jesus" at the conclusion of the meeting. The United Cadets sang very enthusiastically "Stand up for Jesus" at the conclusion of the meeting.

"We feel our responsibility in taking over these young people into our care and keeping," declared the Brigadier General, "and the pulse of God we will do our utmost in bringing about their physical, mental, moral, and above all their spiritual development."

The Training Principal continued by assuring the Chief Secretary that he and his Staff would do all in their power to bring about the development in the hearts and lives of the young people, who have been handed over to their care.

NEW DIVISIONAL COMMANDER WELCOMED

His Excellency the Governor, who was represented by Adjutant Eastwell (Religion), who in his bright and lively little speech, said that the Officers had taken their new leaders into their arms and welcomed them as brothers and friends, and that they were all united in their desire to see their direction. Treasury Boy (Lieutenant Street), representing the Citadel Band, played a march which had a line of Local and pledged their hearty support.

Lieut. Colonel Oway, in replying to these warm expressions of welcome, said that he would do his best to come near the expectations formed of him. "I thank God," he said, "for the opportunity of leading such a magnificent force, and I wish to assure The General, the Commissioner, and my comrades that we can secure their passports as they will be sent over to strengthen Colonel Barker's hands."

A Splendid Donation

"The Commander has been much cheered this week with the information that the United States Steel Corporation has contributed $1000 to The Salvation Army for the purposes of its War Work."

A display of war pictures and emblems of The Army's War Relief work was arranged by the Commissioner, in connection with the State Centennial Fair at Springfield, Ill. Over thirty thousand pieces of literature were distributed. A display of Salvation Army publications from all over the world was on the centre table. This proved to be most interesting and educational.

Colonel McIntyre expects to have his Hut at Camp Dix, N.J., ready for his boys at the front. It will probably be the finest Hut in the world. The Salvation Army Flag in the country. The opening will be celebrated by just going into the distinguished people, it is expected.

NEWS FROM AROUND THE BORDER-LINE

Latest News as to the Chicago Drive - More Workers for France - The Chicago Drive - More Workers for France - The Chicago Drive - More Workers for France

"The event that bulks largest in the Salvation Army's mind, relative to the Chicago drive, is the splendid record secured in the Chicago drive," writes Colonel Pearl.

Just before dictating these notes I received the information that more than $400,000 had been subscribed and there is still a flow of money coming in, and Commissioner Estlin is very hopeful of reaching the half-million dollar mark.

Another Party for France

"A small party for France has just been dispatched with the usual farewell taking place in the Commander's room. But unfortunately the Commander and his Staff could not be present. The little meeting, however, proved to be of a most refreshing and inspiring character and the twelve comrades who accompanied the party gave every evidence of both purpose and ability to maintain the splendid record already achieved over on the front."

"The Department of Supplies, associated with our War Work is growing in importance every day. In one cable during this week we have been requisitioned among other things, for one hundred tons of flour, one hundred tons of sugar, thirty Ford cars, and twelve other things. I cite this just to show something of the size of our shipments. It is not often we get requisitions for cars, but such is the need at the present moment that the cars must be shipped to facilitate the movements of our people and maintenance of the flow of necessary supplies in the front lines."

"So while the girls queued on into a bucket, Bill Barker commandeered a twenty-gallon tank and at the wheel of his Ford, went out to look for water. Some kilometres distant Bill found a spring with water clear and cold as ice. A passing soldier helped him fill and load the tank, and with his precious freight he sped back to the hospital. Within less time than the telling takes lemonade was made and ready to serve. Time after time he made the trip for water, because of the noisy gunfire and of bombs dropped from enemy planes. Between times he loaded the Ford with food which he carried to the front and distributed among men actually engaged in fighting."

The trucks arrived shortly afterwards loaded with tons of oranges and lemons, the lemons being used in hospitals, while crates of oranges were piled up at points passed by troops just going into the front, a long march from the rear. Here the fruit was handed out freely by the boys.

FIGHTING TO SAVE LIFE

The Heroic Endeavours of Salvation Army Officers with the American Army to Succour and Help the Wounded

SOME thrilling incidents are recalled by Captain Miles in the American "War Cry," relative to the work done by the American Division of the Salvation Army in the front lines. When the American Division received orders to attack, the American Division workers attached to it, followed these orders and rendered service to the wounded. On reaching an improvised evacuation hospital the ladies reported to the doctor in charge and asked what they could do. Ambulances in an endless train were bringing in the wounded - American, French and German - and as they came they were being treated as rapidly as possible. The girls were dressed their wounds were cleansed and they were loaded into other ambulances and shipped to the rail head. The girls were then sent to hospitals in splendidly equipped ambulances. Doctors and men of the Hospital Corps were all working against time to keep pace with the ambulances.

Cold Drinks Wanted
"For God's sake get them something cold to drink - something cold!" exclaimed the chief surgeon, in reply to Captain Miles' question, scarcely looking up and hating not at all in his task. "We have lemonade and sugar; with water we can make lemonade."

"Do it, then, do it, but have it cold!" snapped the doctor. So while the girls queued on into a bucket, Bill Barker commandeered a twenty-gallon tank and at the wheel of his Ford, went out to look for water. Some kilometres distant Bill found a spring with water clear and cold as ice. A passing soldier helped him fill and load the tank, and with his precious freight he sped back to the hospital. Within less time than the telling takes lemonade was made and ready to serve. Time after time he made the trip for water, because of the noisy gunfire and of bombs dropped from enemy planes. The trucks arrived shortly afterwards loaded with tons of oranges and lemons, the lemons being used in hospitals, while crates of oranges were piled up at points passed by troops just going into the front, a long march from the rear. Here the fruit was handed out freely by the boys.

One boy by the name, too badly hit to move. He was a fine specimen of American manhood - lean, fat-muscled, broad-shouldered, with a face like that of a young god, and that was the only thing in his mind over a high, broad forehead. A great splash of blood just how-hardly he had been hit, which he had been flashing of his dark eyes indicated that he still lived. From these he glanced up gratefully at Lieutenant McIntyre, who had been looking at him and held a glass of lemonade to his lips. But he had not the strength to sip. It was necessary to feed the little fellow, and the nurse turned to the Lieutenant thought him too weak and in too great pain to comprehend what was being done for him. She ran a soothing hand through his tangled hair, bathed his face and turned to the next man. As she turned his lips trembled as though he were trying to speak, but no sound came from them. The girl again bent toward him, and with a great effort he extended his hand, as if he were trying to express the thanks which he could not force his lips to utter. She held the white cloth for a moment and then turned to hide the tears which all her courtesy could not hold in check. But tears must be banished here, so, summoning a smile, she moved on to the next litter.

HELP TO SAVE SUGAR

By Using Glucose and White Corn Syrup

A survey of the food situation which has just been made by the International Sugar Commission, in the full light of revised and verified figures, shows that the balance of the crop on hand and the Allies' requirements, shows the necessity for strict conservation of sugar on this continent. Until the new crop becomes available at the beginning of the next year.

It is important that canning and preserving of fruits and vegetables should not be limited by lack of sugar, but if this is to be avoided and an equitable distribution made, the use of substitutes is so that sufficient supplies will be available until the end of the year, various must be avoided and our sugar conservation kept to absolutely necessary uses.

Drastic restrictions have been imposed by the Canada Food Board on public eating places and on the use of sugar by manufacturers. A very large saving has been effected in this way, and also by voluntary conservation of sugar in the home. The Canada Food Board is urging voluntary reduction of household consumption of sugar in this country, and the use of substitutes in the greatest, possible extent. Glucose and white corn syrup are, perhaps, the most satisfactory and least expensive sugar substitutes available. Practical experiments have shown that they can be employed advantageously in the making of jam and jelly, in cereals, and for other domestic purposes.

Canadian housewives have shown a patriotic spirit and a readiness to accept such measures as have been put forward by the Canada Food Board. They are now asked to give their utmost to save sugar. The Board recommends the use of glucose wherever possible.

Here is a recipe in which sugar substitutes can be used:
Apple Sauce: Eight apples, six tablespoons corn syrup (white), half teaspoon cinnamon, half cup water. Wash, core, and slice apples. Put into a sauce pan with water, sugar, and cinnamon. Cook over a medium fire until soft. Mash to a pulp that no lumps remain.

Brigadier Phillips (Training Principal, Canada West), with Mrs. Phillips and Captain Holmgren, Lieutenant Ramadela, and Captain Sharrack a very creditable institution, and the improvements referred to are indeed a step in the right direction.

Of the forty-one Cadets accepted for Training, thirty were publicly welcomed at a meeting conducted by the Chief Secretary on Thursday, Sept. 5th. The total Cadets to be trained this Session will be thirty-five in number.

Large Audience

Welcome meetings to incoming Cadets seldom fail to attract large audiences, and the occasion previously referred to was no exception to the rule.

No song could have been chosen that would better give expression to the forward march of The Army's Work in Canada West than the one selected and lined out by Brigadier Taylor.

"The Salvation Army is marching alone, and the body fine of smart, clean-cut, alert young women seated on the platform impressed one as a striking example of this."

After handing over the meeting to the Chief Secretary, Brigadier Taylor acquainted the audience with the fact that he (the Chief Secretary) had been promoted to the rank of full Colonel. This intelligence was greeted with considerable hand-clapping.

Colonel Turner informed the audience that the present Session of Cadets was the third to be trained in the West under Brigadier Phillips. The Officers of the previous Session were acquiring themselves in a manner which reflected credit on the Training Staff, and he felt sure that the Cadets on the platform would, under the good blessing of God, eventually go and do likewise.

MESOPOTAMIA

PART III—ITS FUTURE PROSPECTS

It is no exaggeration to say that the whole world's peace, its progress, and prosperity hang largely upon the settlement of the many problems associated with this unique country of Mesopotamia.

(1) The development of its natural resources is a matter of some importance.

Bagdad under British Rule

A wonderful transformation is taking place in the city—This is a street-repairing scene

tance to multitudes. (2) The reopening of its ancient highways and the construction of great trunk roads way to India and the Far East are matters of still greater importance, especially to the inhabitants of the Eastern Hemisphere. (3) But of the very deepest concern to all mankind is the prospect that in the settlement of Mesopotamia and the adjacent lands of Islam lies the possible doom of despotism and the dawn of a better era for the inhabitants of all five continents.

Prosperity Will Soon Return

Half a century may be needed for the reforestation and recovery of a land like Palestine, but a very few years will suffice for restoring prosperity to Mesopotamia. Its rich alluvial plains are capable of immediate developments, irrigation schemes have already been thought out, and modern engineering skill can quickly transform this desolate land into one of the finest wheatfields in the world. Such development alone would obviously benefit the working classes of Europe, for so great an increase in the world's wheat supplies would doubtless reduce the price of the people's bread.

There are also excellent prospects for the cultivation of cotton, for the further extension of the remarkably fruitful date gardens and orange groves, for the breeding of ponies, and the raising of Angora goats, which produce the famous silky wool so highly prized by the manufacturers. The vast undeveloped oilfields are of priceless value at a time when our needs for this essential commodity have so enormously increased, when nearly every engine and all the most modern ships are being constructed to be run by oil fuel.

The Anglo-Saxon race has over a century has done much to foster improvements in these afflicted lands. Comfortable river steamers have regularly plied between Bagdad and Basrah, and along the Karun River to Ahwaz. Enormous quantities of dates, liquorice, wool gum, valonia, and other products have been annually exported to the West by British and American merchants. Their commercial enterprises, carried on under exceptionally trying circumstances, greatly alleviated the abject poverty into which the Turkish rule had driven the inhabitants. The great oil-refining factory south of Basrah, with its wonderful wharves and other fine buildings that cover an area of more than two square miles, gives employment to nearly seven thousand men. The crude oil is brought from different wells through nearly two hundred miles of pipe lines to the refinery at Ahwaz; this remarkable establishment, which has financially benefited both the Government and people of Persia more than any other commercial undertaking in the country, is the fruit of long and laborious efforts made by a British syndicate in a land of sweltering summers where dangers and difficulties abound.

In less than two years British occupation has transformed Lower Mesopotamia into something approaching a paradise. The population of Basrah has enormously increased, and the inhabitants have never before been so well off. Excellent wharves have been erected on the banks of the great Shatt-el-Arab for the ocean-going steamers which do much business with the East. To do more economically in a few hours. Every creek has been bridged, and the numerous floods that have been made; electric light has been installed; electric trams have invaded this long-remembered port; while an equally wonderful transformation is already taking place in the city of Bagdad.

Many Improvements

Thousands of men have repaired the river banks, the Euphrates is becoming navigable, and for the first time for centuries there have been no serious floods in the Lower Mesopotamia. Two railway lines are spreading away to the north; an embankment of twenty miles long has recovered for agricultural purposes a marshy area of forty-eight square miles, where wheatfields, vegetable gardens, dairy farms, and poultry farms, all under the care of professional farmers from India, are adequately providing for the needs of the British Forces in Mesopotamia and preparing to send food supplies to the British Isles. These astounding rapid changes are all illustrations of what can easily be done by a just and wise administration of a fertile country like Mesopotamia.

THE PRATING LEAGUE

FROM THE ACTS

By Mrs. Blanche H. Smith

"My dear Sir, this is the most serious of the present hour. The idol of the Greeks and Romans was thought to offer special protection to motherhood. She was a 'van goddess' and was also considered goddess of the sea. She would understand how she appeared in loving people, and how they would readily the silver shirring, the replicas of the principal shrine in the Aegean Mountains.

When, therefore, the people were all excited over Paul and the new Gospel, naturally those who had been making a livelihood out of these idolatrous articles saw the confusion and feared their craft, or business, would suffer loss. So they stirred up strife and opposition to the new religion and Paul, its chief promoter.

All down through the ages it has ever been so. Even in the early days of the Army's work, when men were elected to drink were being brought to God, bitter persecution came from the vendors of alcohol, and many new converts had to suffer the consequences of the change. Situation had made in their lives.

And how many of us to-day who would like to become out-and-out Christians if it were not that they are in some business or have some beloved pleasure which they are unwilling to relinquish for Christ.

"I kept nothing back" (See 2nd). This was one of the sources of Paul's great strength. His faithful couragelessness enabled him to be true to his Lord no matter what the cost in personal sacrifice to himself. And to-day the world needs men and women of this type. Men are wanted to show the way of escape for the cause of the truth and the Cross as is being shown by the great allied forces in the midst of democracy and national life.

We heard the other day of a British general who said to his men: "When you went out to fight, you were to get in touch with Headquarters—not General Headquarters, but God!" One of the greatest of our leaders said: "The old man has done many brave deeds, but none braver than to tell us that."

We are going into a fighting for the highest ideals. No sacrifice is too great to make in this vital cause. Personally we feel it is a battle for the soul of the world, for the freedom. But in the every-day working of individual religion it would seem there is no need of the fiercest adherence to the highest standards. There is much danger in lowering the standards. Let us bring before us the spirit of the great Paul before us the spirit of his most precious life: "I have kept the faith."

CAME FIFTY MILES

To Be Enrolled as a Soldier at Edmonton 111.

The farewell meetings of Castle dates Clark, Mawson, and Jangley were blessed times last night. The Edmonton 111. We finished at night with five fruits for Salvation and one for compensation, as are sorry to lose these good fighters, they were real, good fighters. Edmonton 111. is going down under the leadership of Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Smith. They are both good and it is a great blessing that we will. We also enrolled a third wife who came fifty miles for purpose.

A DISTINCT GAIN

THE gain in national efficiency is so great as a result of the war that it is now estimated that it is certain Great Britain never will return to pre-war conditions in this regard, according to a statement made to the Associated Press by Baron D'Abernon, Chairman of the Central Board of Control. He said: "The regulations limiting the hours of sale, providing for the dilution of spirits and beer and forbidding treating, have resulted in remarkable decreases in drunkenness and the diseases incidental to drinking. The level of drunkenness to-day is about half that of a year ago, while it was one-third that of the pre-war time. There has been a general decrease of about eighty-three per cent. in drinking among both men and women."

A GOOD STEP FORWARD

THE Director-General of the United States Railways recently issued an order forbidding the sale of all intoxicants in dining cars, railroad restaurants and stations. This is a radical step, but a very necessary and praiseworthy one, and it goes into effect at once.

At the same time the matter of nation-wide Prohibition during the war is under discussion at Washington. There are good grounds for hoping that the States will be "bone dry" after July 31, 1919; at present, the war is in the way.

THE HOUSEWIFE'S MOTTO DRYING, drying, drying. This should be the motto of the housewife this autumn. And drying is so easy, and so many things are dabble. When you went out to the garden, you put away, already, the equivalent of many quarts of fruit and vegetables, and all her apparatus has been a wire screen, hanging between two uprights above her gas rings, and the fire that has done her drying has been the only fire used in the day's cooking, took less than half the fuel, and whether there was a trifle left over that she meant to use in some other way, it has gone to the screen and, there, covered over by a layer of cheesecloth to keep off dust and flies, the heat from the gas has done the rest.

In her collection is corn—perhaps not more than the contents of the one cob remaining after lunch or dinner, going on the screen at a time; there are sprigs of dried parsley, and Lawson berries, carrots, beans, and sweet peas. The best of all, the variety stored in glass bottles, or paper bags, or canvas sacks, and the best of all, the variety stored in glass bottles, or paper bags, or canvas sacks, and the best of all, the variety stored in glass bottles, or paper bags, or canvas sacks.

USE SWEET APPLES

SWEET apples should be made to do the duty in guaranteeing a plentiful supply of sugar for the soldiers at the front; ways of cooking these natural sweets are endless.

STANDARD SHORTHAND

A PLAN to standardize Pitman's shorthand is now being completed, according to press reports. "Since the invention of phonography by Isaac Pitman in 1837, many variations have been published. The object of the National Committee has been to select the best reporting material from all the Pitman systems, as improved by experienced reporters, and it has admirably succeeded in producing a standardized system, which materially reduces the strain on the verbatim reporter, and at the same time secures better results, as to condensed speed and accuracy, than any single system.

The rapidity of speech is constantly increasing, and at the same time, on account of recent developments in the arts of science, inventions and industries, the English language has grown so thick that now contains half a million words which reporters meet in their employment in law courts, conventions, investigation, etc. Hence the very highest shorthand skill is demanded of verbatim reporters.

Ruling Princes of India—The Maharajahs of Patiala and Kapurthala

The first named prince recently visited England as the representative of the Indian Princes in the Imperial War Cabinet. Patiala is one of the most important States in the Punjab, and has been distinguished for its loyalty to the Empire, a record which has been splendidly maintained under its present ruler. These two princes are the leading tank rulers of the Punjab. Both have rendered eminent service by placing their armies at the disposal of the Empire during the present war.

July, 1917, while that of hake and pollock was 1,000 cwt., less. The herring catch was less by 11,000 cwt., and the sardine catch by 12,000 barrels. The reduced catch was due to unfavourable weather in the first half of the month and a general scarcity of bait during the latter part of the month.

From the opening of the lobster season on November 15th until the end of July there were packed 100,377 cases, while 53,129 cwt. were shipped in shell. During the corresponding period last year 148,011 cases were packed and 69,355 cwt. were shipped in shell.

The total value in first hand of sea fish landed on both coasts during July is $4,306,124, against $3,303,743 for July last year.

HONOUR EARLY SETTLERS

AN MONUMENT was recently unveiled in Quebec City to Louis Hebert, the first farming settler of Canada, and to his wife, Marie Rollet, who, while being the first woman on the soil, was at the same time the first teacher in the first days of the colony. The statue stands at the star of the City Hall.

Baked slowly, during which process the sugar, combined with the small amount of water poured over them when they are put in the oven, will make a brownish glass jelly, they are good for epicure. Another toothsome method is to cook them slowly (after they are cooled and cut into rings) in a pan into which has been put bacon or beef fat. Cover, and after cooking for a quarter of an hour, turn them, and when both sides are brown, pour over each ring a teaspoonful of molasses, cook five minutes longer and dish when hot.

PROHIBITION PARS.

TORONTO is the largest city in the world in which Prohibition is in force.

Lack of enforcement will quickly bring our Prohibition laws into disrepute, let us see that they are enforced.

The International Sunday School Association, which in session at Buffalo, resolved to work for worldwide Prohibition.

It has been demonstrated by scientific investigation that alcohol is useless as a medicine, dangerous as a food, and is never a stimulant.

POINTED QUESTIONS

Are you grateful to God for His many mercies to you? Do you take care to keep His Word and His benefits fresh in your mind? Or have you been forgetting these things and thus got into bondage?

MANY SEA GULLS

It is said that there are at least twenty different kinds of sea gulls. Not all of these stay near the sea. Some are found in the interior, flying in great circles over the waves—some travel far inland, always flying with great swiftness and power.

PROMOTED TO GLORY

Brother Barnes, Hamilton 111.

"Dad" Barnes entered the City Hospital (Hamilton) to undergo an operation on Aug. 12th, and passed away to his reward on Sunday, the 25th. He was seventy-seven years old, and loved and respected by all who knew him. Although he had been ill for some time, he came to the open-air and inside meetings to testify to his knowledge of the love of God—an example to all, especially the younger Soldiers. He knew he had little chance of coming back amongst his comrades, and made known his wishes and planned arrangements for his funeral. In every respect an Army wish.

On Sunday, Aug. 25th, the Band was making its way to the open-air at 2 p.m., with the intention of going on to give a short service in the hospital grounds, which is the custom at regular intervals. It was during the first open-air that the news came that dear old Dad had gone home. It was his wish to die on Sunday.

The Band then went on to the hospital and played, and the Songsters sang suitable pieces, which were much appreciated by the inmates. The nurses who attended Dad Barnes spoke in touching words of his desire to cause as little trouble as possible.

On Tuesday, Aug. 27th, Lieut.-Colonel Chandler conducted the funeral services. It only needed a casual glance to see how the Corps and friends showed their respect. Practically a full Band and Songsters were present and numerous friends.

On Sunday, Sept. 1st, Colonel Chandler conducted the memorial service, assisted by Mrs. Chandler, when a forceful address was given and different references were made to the numerous departed comrades. Two items, "Jerusalem, My Happy Home," by the Band, and "O Thou Shepherd of Israel," by the Songsters, were the requests. It was stated by Dad that should be guided at his memorial service. We missed him at Hamilton 111. His testimony was always an inspiration and a source of comfort to all who heard him. He was a man who was unable to do more work for God because he wanted to go home. His last words to the Young People were: "Work in my Father's Vineyard."

T. H. B.

Sir, Mrs. Frances, St. John's 111. Mrs. St. John's 111. Corps has been called upon to suffer a great loss by the death of Sister Mrs. Frances, one of our oldest Soldiers. Mrs. Frances was married at The Young People's Home at the Hant's Harbour Corps many years ago, and since that time has been a worker both in this country and in America. Some twelve months ago, owing to failing health, Mrs. Frances left America and came back to her native land.

For the past year she has been a great sufferer. God in His wisdom has taken her away to the home prepared for the holy.

Brother Frances is still left as a fighter in our Corps. The blow has been quite a hard one, but we are praying that God will comfort him in his sorrow.

The memorial service was conducted by Adjutant and Mrs. Hard. Three eulogies were read by the Mercies.—E. N. H.

SONGS OF SALVATION

WAITING FOR THE FIRE
Tune—My soul is now united, 101; My all is on the altar, 100.
In full and glad surrender
I give myself to Thee;
Thine utterly and fully
And evermore to be.

CHORUS
My all is on the altar, I'm waiting for the fire; [the fire]
Waiting, waiting, I'm waiting for

Oh Son of God, who lovest me,
I will be Thine alone,
And I'll leave and all I am
Shall henceforth be Thine own.

WHY I LOVE MY JESUS
Tune—This is why I love Jesus.
Would you know why I love Jesus?
Why He is so dear to me?
'Tis because my blessed Saviour
From my sins has ransomed me.

CHORUS
This is why I love my Jesus,
This is why I love Him so;
